Sanmaxi KeyLogger Crack

Keymacro is a real-time and stealth keystroke logger designed for Windows based systems. The program's interface is easy and intuitive, requiring no prior knowledge of computers. With Keymacro, you can secretly spy on any user on a specific computer and capture all keystrokes made by him/her. Keymacro captures keystrokes as they are typed and saves them into a log file, which can be viewed at your own convenience. You can also save the log files to your e-mail address, FTP server or even as an encrypted text file that can be opened later on. All the captured keystrokes are saved in an encrypted log file. An optional password is required to unlock the log files. The encrypted log files can be stored on your computer or sent via e-mail, FTP or any other file transfer method. Keymacro is completely undetectable and has the ability to monitor all keystrokes made by any user on a specified computer. This software program also allows you to secretly see the image of the entire screen in real time. You can monitor the screen of the user while he is using it. Keymacro also allows you to record the sound of the computer speakers. You can capture any conversation between any users on the same computer using microphone. Keymacro allows you to monitor all the keyboard keys on the computer. It will capture the keys even if a user is running a third-party application such as a word processor or Internet browser. Keymacro is completely invisible and you do not need to be physically present at the computer in order to monitor the keystrokes. As long as the computer is connected to the Internet, Keymacro will capture all the keystrokes made by the user. Keymacro will beep every time the user types a key, just like the beep of a cash register. Keymacro can capture any user's activity, including those of administrative users. For instance, you can use this software to spy on any particular user who has administrative privileges on your computer. Keymacro is able to capture keystrokes even if the user is running any third-party application. You can even capture the conversation between two or more users while they are working on the same computer. Keymacro is completely undetectable as it runs in the background and can work with no user interface. It will not display any pop-up message or any suspicious graphical interface. Keymacro is easy to 2edc1e01e8
